FOR ANOTHER HE DESERTED WIFE

George Wolf Left in Company With Mrs. Alice Harmon—Says
He's Not Coming Back.

HIS WIFE IS LEFT DESTITUTE

Heavenly Recruit Church Held a Meeting Saturday to Raise Money For Mrs. Wolf.

It might truthfully be said that a collection taken up at a religious meeting in this city Saturday night was for the purpose of keeping "the wolf from the door." The wolf in this instance is the husband, George Wolf, who has been basking in the limelight for several months. He was arrested first on a charge of burglary and later for constantly "laying around" the home of one Alice Harmon. On each charge he was cleared, but he had narrow escapes.

Last week, it is said, that he skipped out leaving his wife and baby, and went to Indianapolis with Mrs. Harmon, where the pair intends to live as man and wife. It is said that Wolf declared that he would never return here again.

His wife was left in destitute circumstances. Several of her friends gave her temporary relief, but were unable to provide her with the money and the necessities of life that she required Saturday night, the members of the Heavenly Recruit church planned a meeting to raise some money for the deserted wife and mother and for that end they met in the home of Rev. Washington Levi in West Ninth street. A collection was taken up and three dollars secured. This was given Mrs. Wolf to tide her over for a few days until she could obtain substantial aid from the township or some other source.

ISBEN'S 'PEER GYNT' WAS DISCUSSED

At Meeting of May Donnan Class on Saturday Afternoon—Play is Symbolic.

GREATEST OF MODERN DRAMAS

Mrs. May W. Donnan of Indianapolis gave a most delightful reading of Ibsen's "Peer Gynt" before her class here Saturday afternoon.

"Peer Gynt," which is Ibsen's masterpiece, is to be very finely given in Indianapolis this week and for this reason perhaps there is unusual interest in the play just at this time. Like all of Henrik Ibsen's plays, "Peer Gynt" is symbolic and unless one sees the symbolism which is often very subtle, the story loses much of its forcefulness. It is a satire written to rebuke the dreamy inactive Norwegian peasant. Ibsen has given to the stage something different and is perhaps the greatest of modern dramatists.

Mrs. Donnan's scholarly interpretation of the play was most pleasing and instructive.

The lesson on "The Bible in Ten-nyson" will be given Saturday afternoon, April 24. The meeting will be with Mrs. Thomas McWhimney in East Sixth street.

There will be a club supper and dance at the Social club Wednesday night.

INSTITUTES SUIT AGAINST FATHER

Mart Beaver is Charged With Appropriating Five Thousand Dollars From Estate.

SOLD PERSONAL PROPERTY

Mrs. Ray Lakin has filed suit in the Rush circuit court against her father, Mart Beaver, charging him with appropriating five thousand dollars to his own use, from the estate of his wife, now deceased. Mrs. Lakin filed the suit, acting as administratrix of the estate, and representing all the children. Florence Beaver, wife of the defendant, died leaving a farm of one hundred and sixty acres and personal property amounting to $5000. In the complaint it is set forth that Beaver disposed of the personal property and kept the money.

Beaver was recently married to a Kokomo widow and has since resided there. He is now running a meat market in that city. Megee & Kiplinger and B. F. Miller are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

A FOUND CHILD CAUSED WORRY

Little Tot of Five Years Picked up and Entire Morning Spent Looking For His Parents.

STOLE RIDE ON HOSE WAGON

Rode For Eight Blocks and Became Bewildered When he Got Off—
Power of Speech Paralyzed.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Fields became foster parents of a five-year-old boy this morning which caused no end of excitement and consternation in West Tenth street. A little tot came leisurely walking into the Fields front yard, and when Mrs. Fields asked him who he was, the child hung his head, too bashful to give response. And neither would he talk after the lady took him in her home and asked him a number of questions. Neighbors were called in but try as hard as they might they could not budge the little fellow and he remained as silent as the sphynx.

An hour wore along and Mrs. Fields began to worry, knowing that the child had either run or strayed away from home. She sent word to City Marshal Price and the officer went at once to the Fields' home. He was unable to get a word out of the boy. The chap was apparently not a bit excited and took on an air of unconcern.

It was eleven o'clock before any clew was found to the boy's identity. It was learned that a hunt had been going on all the forenoon in the west part of the city where his parents resided. The boy's name was Gilson. Attracted by the bright and gayly painted hose wagon that passed his house, he ran out and unbeknownst to the driver jumped on the rear steps. There he remained until he got to the corner of Eighth and Arthur streets, when he got off thinking he had better go back home. But he was further away than he reckoned and he became bewildered and lost. The feeling of being lost paralyzed his power of speech and he was unable to tell anyone his name.

AN AWFUL BLOW TO SCUTTLE HAT

Was the Wind That Came With the Glad Eastertide—Observance of Day in Rushville.

WHO WERE UNDER THE HATS?

Big, Drooping Brims Hid Beautiful Eyes—Glorious Services Held in Various Churches.

Ye finicky faddists who fashion galore Each spring some new foible, we humbly implore; Why the jury-rigged psyche, the pomp and all that, Has to ask: "Who in is under that world that hat?" The (Imitation of a hat.)

Well, who is under the hat? Rather an important question the morning of all mornings when Fashion, figuratively speaking, leans back wearily among the cushions and says not without pride:

"Look about you and see whether or not I have done my duty."

Here they are and you may see for yourself. We have the coal scuttle hat and the gas rebate hat; all the basket varieties, dog, peach and scrap; there are the hats for the horsey set and also for the suffragette, the latter severely plain so far as superfluous adornment goes, yet fashioned none the less with a daring sweep that betokens woman's unhampered plunge into spring millinery. Do not overlook the lamp shade hats and the soup plate hats; the new poke and the chopping bowl hats; the get-on-to-the mountain and the "meet me at the fountain" hats. Why mention any more of them?

And you, sir, who have in your idler moments spoken slightly of woman's inventive genius and have even dared to hint that she does little more than take suggestions from creative, god-like man—look you what she has done and whence she has garnered the adornment for these hats of Easter.

Here are apple blossoms piled high on a frame of curious intricacy. Bachelor buttons—floral, not the real ones—California poppies and fruits and feathers. Here are violets and rosebuds woven into an unbroken shade; here another with flowers of a conventionalized type that never bloomed on mortal soil. From this one sprays of currants and grapes depend; on that are clusters of ripe crabapples or glaring tangerines. Yonder goes a lovely little Rocco rainbow circlet nestling on a veritable palm garden of a hat. See the colors. Olive, mauve and bois poli; yellows, reds and grays all of the dull fresco shades; spring colors, summer colors, colors of iridescence and blends that suggests a riot of old tapestry.

Tacking against a high wind—a veritable stiff gale—with sails full, milady in Rushville joined the annual Easter parade and what beauty was to be seen! And not only did the fair sex blossom forth in all their glory, but the men folks, in greater numbers than ever before, were attired in swell, swagger and nifty cut clothing in all colors and were to be found at the churches and in the "market place."

Triumphant and rejoicing in the resurrection, more general and elaborate celebrations of Easter Sunday were witnessed Sunday in Rushville than ever before. The anniversary was observed with special programs, in which music played an important part, and which was gala with floral welcome to the coming season.

Probably more and grander music has been written for the Easter festival than for any other celebration in the entire year, and much of the best was given among the different programs in the city churches.

The Sunday schools reached high marks of attendance and collections in nearly every church. Special services in which the children from the kindergarten student to the teacher were elaborately presented.

It is something of a commentary for reflection to remember that the name by which the day is known is derived from the name of the Angle-Saxon, "Eastre," the Goddess of Spring, whose festival was celebrated during the month of April, and which originally had nothing in common with the Christian religion which has given the day its present significance and character.

Next in importance to the floral offerings always considered most appropriate to the day is the use of the Easter Eggs. This custom was undoubtedly derived from the use of the early Christians of the egg to typify the resurrection. Out of this have grown the many quaint and gentle usages by the children and young people to display their interest in the general gladness of the day.

At Nameless Creek the membership was doubled and at Carthage about fifty new members came into the church. A revival is now going on at Charlottesville and great good is being done. Greenfield people are expecting a splendid meeting here.

AGED PIONEER IS CALLED BY DEATH

L. S. Hunt Died Early Sunday Morning of Brights Disease After Long Illness.

WAS HIGHLY RESPECTED MAN

Was Born in Walker Township in 1838—Operated Store in Orange
For Forty-One Years.

L. S. Hunt died at his home in East Sixth street Sunday morning at 4:40 o'clock after an illness of over a year. The attending physicians pronounced Brights disease as the cause of his death. He had been a patient sufferer all through his recent illness even during the last few hours of his life, when he was in a most critical condition and not expected to live any length of time.

Mr. Hunt was one of the most likeable and one of the most highly respected citizens in the county. He was one of the pioneers of the county, having been born in Walker township in 1838, where he spent his boyhood days. He later moved to the Orange neighborhood, and then to the town of Orange, where he bought a store, which he operated for forty-one years. Just recently he disposed of his store and moved to this city to spend the last few days of his life near his children.

The deceased is survived by a wife and three sons, Geston, who owns a hardware store in this city; Riley, who travels for a wholesale hardware company out of Indianapolis; and Lemane of Indianapolis, who is employed as mail clerk on the railroad.

The funeral services will be conducted from the Orange Christian church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the procession leaving here at 1 o'clock.

Held Tonight.

MANY VISITORS ARE EXPECTED

A stated assembly of Rushville Council No. 41 R. & S. M. will be held in the Masonic Temple this evening. Preparations have been made to confer the Super Excellent Master Degree upon a class of thirty-five candidates and a good attendance of local members is desired. Visiting members from Connersville, Shelbyville, Franklin, Greensburg and Knightstown are expected.

Eggs and Music

A local minister tells a story apropos of the Easter season. He says that on a visit to a small town nearby, where he had to remain all night after conducting a funeral service that he was awakened early the next morning by a soprano voice which came from the kitchen singing a famous hymn. As the minister was dressing, he meditated upon the piety of the servant. Speaking to her afterward of the pleasure it had given him he was met by an unexpected answer: "Oh, thanks, sir," she replied, "but that's the hymn I boil eggs by—three verses for soft and five for hard."

WILL HE KNOW HIS OFFSPRING?

Payne's Bill to Be Materially Changed by Senate.

AND IT IS TO GET A NEW NAME

In Consideration of the Large Number of Alterations the Senate Committee Has Made in the House Tariff Bill, That Measure Probably Will Henceforth Be Known as the Payne-Aldrich Bill.—Senator Aldrich's Committee to Fix Time Today for Formal Report on the Measure.

Washington, April 12.—The senate will begin its consideration of the Payne tariff bill early this week, and because of the large number of changes which have been made in it by the senate committee on finance, it probably will henceforth be known as the Payne-Aldrich bill.

It is expected the measure will be reported to the senate on Tuesday, but the day can not be definitely fixed until after a meeting of the full committee on finance today. The bill as originally introduced in the house by Mr. Payne, has been under consideration at the hands of both the majority and the minority members of the finance committee ever since the day it was presented, but so far there has not been a joint meeting to consider it. As is usually the case in the preparation of tariff bills, the Republican majority has assumed the right to indicate the senate's attitude towards the bill, so that whatever amendments may be suggested when it is returned to the senate will be the result of their labors.

The calling in of the Democrats is largely a formality so far as the schedules are concerned. They will, however, be asked to go over the work of the majority members, and if for any reason they should ask delay for a day or two it probably would be granted. In all probability, however, they will make little or no objection to the reporting of the bill by the Republicans.

It is not expected that a great many set speeches will be made in the senate. While not accepting the protective principle, the Democratic members realize that the measure will be passed, and they are not disposed to cause unnecessary delay. Consequently most of the discussion by the Democrats will be upon the merit of the amendments which will be offered. Some of them will, however, demand considerable time. The general policy of Republican members will be to do very little talking. The prevailing opinion is that no less than a month will be required for consideration of the bill by the senate.

The house will have a period of leisure, and while the senate is wrestling with the tariff bill, the lower body will meet only on Mondays and Thursdays.

Speaker Cannon will begin to prepare for the appointment of the house standing committee which probably will be announced prior to the final adjournment of the extra session.

INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.

Indianapolis, April 12.—Next year the fight over the tariff issue promises to be unusually spectacular in Indiana owing to the fact that Senator Beveridge will be a candidate for reelection and Senator B. F. Shively will be at the head of the Democratic hosts. One of the strong cards played for Shively in his candidacy for the United States senate was that he was one of the best posted men in the country on the tariff question. His followers predicted that he would make a speech on the tariff that would be used as a campaign document for the party, not only in Indiana but the nation. It is understood here now that Senator Shively will take an active part in the tariff debate. If that issue is to be paramount in the state next year the Democrats are confident that he will prove Senator Beveridge's master. On the other hand the Republican newspapers are beginning to carry press notices from Washington to the effect that Senator Beveridge will soon appear as the champion of the great common people and that he will make a speech—the effort of his life—in favor of a law that will lower the schedules on commodities the masses must have. Some of the Republicans say that Senator Beveridge has an opportunity to make a fine lot of political capital for himself by opposing the tariff bill, even if he is beaten. If his ideas are not adopted they say he can go before the people and show that he couldn't help it.

There promises to be abundance of good material for the Democrats to select their next state ticket from. The party is believed to be in better shape than for many years and even many of the Republicans are reluctantly conceding that Governor Marshall's administration is making good. Unless the Democrats get the worst end of the local option issue, which is likely to be paramount to everything next year, the party leaders will go into the fight more confident of winning than ever before. The governor is trying to recognize all factions of the party so that they will present a solid front next year. Where the contest between the rival clans for patronage threatens to become too strong he is preparing to go outside and select men who have not been identified with them in any way. The governor is literally swamped with applications and demands for jobs. Each faction has enough of its faithful ones lined up for patronage to almost make a regiment in the national guard. It is the understanding, however, that the limited number to be appointed will be selected so that all the factions will be fairly represented. That he is very much in earnest about desiring to bring about harmony is indicated by the governor's efforts to bring Taggart, ex-Mayor Holtzman, James L. Keach and other Democratic warriors here together so they can carry this city in the coming municipal campaign, and make an organization and record that the governor is confident the Democrats will be able to elect a successor to Senator Beveridge. The governor has resolutely refused to consider any applications for appointments to minor places at the various state institutions. All applications that come to him are being referred very promptly to the boards of managers or the institutional superintendent. He is making no recommendations regarding their staffs and will refrain from doing anything that looks like politics in connections with them.

Representative Wise of Plymouth will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney-general next year. He made a good record during the recent legislature when he was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Wm. Sarber. He became one of the leaders on the Democratic side, taking an active part in behalf of all party measures and in fighting excessive appropriations. His friends say that he will have the backing of the Democrats of the northern half of the state. Wise's election on a platform favoring the repeal of the county local option law is regarded as a precedent showing the difference between the county unit as a political and a sentimental issue. He won by a majority of nearly 60. About seventy-five per cent. of the vote was cast. Marshall county politicians figure that on a full vote he would have had a margin of 900, which would have been a record breaker for that locality.

FRANCE'S MAIN OBJECT

Is to Keep Castro From Hatching Any More Revolutions.

Paris, April 12.—The return of Castro is not regarded here as of great importance, the principal object of the French government being to prevent the use of French territory as the headquarters for a revolutionary movement and a campaign by Castro to recapture his lost power in Venezuela. There will be no opposition made to his landing, or even to his remaining in France, providing he lives peaceably.

Castro Doesn't Like It.

Fort de France, Martinique, April 12.—Prior to being taken aboard the steamer Versailles for deportation to France, ex-President Castro prepared a written protest against the action of the French government which has been submitted to the authorities here.

No Place for Castro.

Remarkable Experience With Gas.

Columbus, O., April 12.—In a natural gas explosion the front wall of a rooming house at 53 North Front street was blown out. John Welsh, a lodger in the room where the explosion took place, was divested of his coat but did not receive a burn or scratch on his body.

NEVER DIVORCED AS STATED

The Daily Republican is in receipt of a letter from Kansas, setting forth a correction which we are pleased to publish. The story we printed came from informants whom we considered reliable, but who were evidently mistaken or misinformed. The letter follows:

Centralia, Kansas, April 10, 1909. Editor Rushville Republican:

Sir:—In the issue of the Friday edition of your paper, April 2, is a notice of the death of a former resident, George W. Kelly. There being several errors in the way it was given to you, I, his daughter, wish that the same may be corrected.

George W. Kelly, more familiarly known as "Bud" Kelly, died at his home at Sheldon, Mo., October 10, 1909. He leaves a wife and one daughter (myself) by his first wife, well known to all in Rushville as Julia Oliver Kelly (only daughter of the late Benjamin and Rachel Oliver) who died in Kansas 38 years ago and is buried in the beautiful cemetery at Rushville. I wish very much to have the statement corrected that his first wife (my mother) was divorced from my father, as this is a mistake—there was no separation of this family only by death. FOUR YEARS' EXILE ENDS

"Cigarette" Baker Reaches American Shores Today.

DEATH GIVES HIM FREEDOM

When Former Representative Ananias Baker Died a Few Weeks Ago, the Chief Prosecuting Witness Against Tobacco Company's Representative Charged With Attempt to Bribe an Indiana Legislator Passed Away.—Offer of Reward Withdrawn Brings Exile Back From Europe.

Marion, Ind., April 12.—After being an exile for four years and three months from his native city, state and country, Oscar A. "Cigarette" Baker landed in New York today from an ocean liner that brought him from Europe. A cablegram to New York parties relayed to Marion was received by Mrs. O. A. Baker Saturday, and she left at once for New York city, accompanied by her daughter, to be at the dock to greet him when he walked down the gang plank.

After a short stay in New York, Baker and his family will come to Marion, reaching here some time this week. It has not been announced what Mr. Baker intends to do when he arrives, but it is supposed that he will continue as attorney for the American Tobacco company, by whom he was employed when he became entangled in the trouble that caused him to flee from his own country. The American Tobacco company has large interests in many countries of Europe and it is understood that Baker has continued in the employment of the company while abroad.

In January, 1905, while the Indiana legislature was in session, O. A. Baker, representing the American Tobacco company, is alleged to have offered Ananias Baker, a representative in the legislature, a bribe of $100 to vote against a certain anti-cigarette bill. When Ananias Baker announced that he had been offered money by O. A. Baker and produced an envelope from which fell five $20 bills, Oscar A. Baker left Indianapolis at once, going to Canada, where he remained in hiding for some time. He later left for Europe.

The death of Ananias Baker, the prosecuting witness, a few weeks ago, followed by the withdrawal of the reward for "Cigarette" Baker's arrest, makes it possible for him to return without much danger of being prosecuted, of if he is, of being convicted. Mrs. Baker spent some time with her husband in European cities, but she returned home several months ago.

Autoing Parson Found Congregational Pressure Too Strong.

Evansville, Ind., April 12.—The Rev. Howard S. Morrison, who recently attracted attention by urging every minister to imitate his example and secure an automobile to make calls in, put in his resignation as pastor of the First Avenue Presbyterian congregation.

It is said a large faction of the church members deemed it undignified for their pastor to be courting the streets and roads in a fast automobile. They also charge that instead of spending his time in making calls in his automobile he kept it going day and night for pleasure, to the alleged neglect of his pastoral duties.

The preacher became interested in a good roads league, automobile club and other semi-sporting organizations, to the chagrin of his congregation.

Sentenced for Life.

Indianapolis, April 12.—Harry Riggin was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a criminal court jury, and he will spend the rest of his life in prison. Riggin, with three others, Edward Decker, George Miller and Harry Doty killed and robbed Mrs. Mary Nichols March 9 last. Judge Pritchard has ordered a special venire of jurors drawn for Wednesday, when the trial of Edward Decker, another of the four young men who are accused of the murder of Mrs. Nichols, will begin.

Posey County Will Vote May 7.

Mt. Vernon, Ind., April 12.—The Posey county board of commissioners met in special session and despite the refusal of the county council to appropriate $2,000 to defray election expenses, set Friday, May 7, as the day on which a local option election will be held. The vote of the board was unanimous.

Carriage Factory Burns.

Seymour, Ind., April 12.—The Ahlbrand carriage factory was burned. Loss $50,000, partly covered by insurance. The cause was spontaneous combustion in the paint department. The business will be resumed.

Killing Follows Quarrel.

Scottsburg, Ind., April 12.—Albert Nowlin was shot and killed by William Fawbush after the two men had quarreled over a land deal. Fawbush, it is said, shot in self-defense, and he has not been arrested.

SIX VICTIMS OF A SUNDAY BLAZE

Apartment House at Lenox, Mass., Swept by Fire.

EGRESS CUT OFF BY FLAMES

Awakened Too Late to Find Safety In Flight Six Persons Perished Miserably When Flames Swept Through a Business Block, the Upper Rooms of Which Were Occupied by Apartments.—Four Women, a Young Girl and a Man Victims of a Spectacular Sunday Morning Blaze.

Lenox, Mass., April 12.—Six persons lost their lives, three others were badly burned and a property loss of between $200,000 and $300,000 was caused by a fire in the heart of the business section of this town early Sunday.

Four business blocks, two dwellings and two other structures were destroyed in a section bounded by Franklin, Main and Housatonic and Church streets. The fire is believed to have started in the Clifford building from spontaneous combustion.

The dead: Edward C. Ventres, electrician; Mrs. Edward C. Ventres; Miss Leslie Ventres, aged twelve years; Miss Alice French, bookkeeper; Miss Isabel Cook, bookkeeper; Miss Mary Sparks, school teacher.

Injured: Mrs. Catherine Root and her two sons, George and Arthur, severely burned.

A fortunate shift of wind saved the public library and the fashionable Curtis Hotel. In the hotel there were several Easter parties from New York and Boston.

The loss of life occurred in the Clifford building where the blaze started and resulted primarily from a series of explosions among the turpentine, paints, oils and dynamite stored in the cellar of the James Clifford & Sons company, hardware dealers. The fire was discovered by George Root, who lived with his mother and brother in the upper story of the Clifford building, a three-story structure. Hastily calling his brother and mother, all ran down stairs in their night clothes, shouting to the other occupants of the upper floors as they went. They found the front door in flames, but the men wrenched it open and dashed through with their mother between them. All sustained bad burns.

The Roots barely had crossed the street before there was a terrific explosion behind them which shattered windows within a wide radius and caused a fire alarm to ring. In an instant the Clifford block was wrapped in flames.

Horace Perrill and his wife, other occupants of the top floor, aroused by the shouts of the Roots had got half way down the front stairs when they saw the flames leaping up the stairs to bar their exit. Three women were below them trying to get out through the front door, but Perrill saw that the attempt by that time was useless. He then rushed his wife through a long corridor to the back stairs, where he got out in safety. All the other occupants of the Clifford block lost their lives.

The death of Miss Alice French was one of the pitiful tragedies of the morning. While the fire in the Clifford block was at its height a woman was seen to climb out of a flame-filled room onto a veranda on the second story with her night clothing and her hair ablaze. Staggering to the railing the woman leaped to the sidewalk beneath, landing in a heap within five or six feet of the blazing walls. Some of the horrified on-lookers attempted to rush in to drag her out, but the intense heat drove them back and not until the flames had practically died out, several hours later, was the body recovered. The bodies of the other victims have not been found.

ISLAND'S TERCENTENARY

Bermuda This Week Recalling the Days of Her Settlement.

Hamilton, Bermuda, April 12.—For six days beginning today Bermuda will celebrate the three hundredth anniversary of its settlement by Europeans. It was in 1609 that Sir George Somers, on his way to Virginia with a company of settlers in a small fleet, was wrecked here and took possession of the islands in the name of England.

Preparations have been made to celebrate the tercentenary with fetes and sports of all sorts, in which the civil government and the naval and military establishments will participate. As usual at this time of the year, there are many American visitors in Bermuda, and they are showing much interest in the celebration.

Home Furnishing Company's

Entire Furniture and Carpet Stock

DOOMED

The Public Will Benefit

The public of Rushville, Indiana, and vicinity for seventy-five to one hundred miles in all directions, will benefit greatly by the tremendous sacrifice, closing out sale of the Home Furnishing Company's entire stock of $45,000 worth of furniture, carpets, rugs, and household needs. The entire stock is now in the hands of the National Salvage Company of Chicago, with instructions to sell it quickly regardless of wholesale cost of the goods. The National Salvage Company say that they will inaugurate a scientific slaughter as soon as the stock is invoiced, and sell the goods at such low prices as will amaze the public. This will indeed be a sacrifice closing out sale in every meaning of the word, such as the people of Rushville, and surrounding country have never had before in their lifetime.

The National Salvage Company of Chicago say that they will not move, pack or ship away one dollar's worth of the Home Furnishing Company's furniture, carpet or rug stock, that it must all be sold in Rushville within a few days' time.

The entire stock is now being invoiced in order to mark down every article in the entire building at the lowest possible prices, in order to dispose of the goods quickly. It will be a sale of Furniture, Carpets and Household Goods such as will pay you to come one hundred miles to attend. It is an opportunity of a lifetime for you to outfit your homes in good quality furniture, carpets, etc., at about 45 cents on the dollar.

The manager of the National Salvage Company informs us that they have engaged one hundred extra salespeople in order to serve the vast crowds who will attend this quit business sale, and closing out of the Home Furnishing Company's stock. We bespeak for this quit business furniture and carpet sale a most stupendous business, as The Home Furnishing company's reputation for carrying good quality furniture, carpets, rugs and house furnishings is well known in Rushville, and vicinity as during their career in business in Rushville they have only carried the most reliable quality of furniture, carpets, rugs and house furnishings.

This will certainly be a great feast of furniture bargains, and this big sale will no doubt attract thousands of people to Rushville, as the public well know the character of The Home Furnishing Company's stock of furniture, carpets, rugs and household needs. It is an opportunity that the public seldom have and the people are always ready to save themselves one-half on their purchases whenever that opportunity presents itself.

Merchants wishing to buy portions of this stock or any part of the fixtures, safe, counters, shelving, etc., will please call between the hours of 7:00 and 8:00 a. m. as all other hours during the day will be devoted to the immense crowds of people, who will want to buy this stock out at retail.

The Home Furnishing Company's big store, which is now closed, will remain closed in order to get the entire stock invoiced and every article marked down in plain figures to the very lowest possible limit, in order to sell the goods out rapidly, as this stock must and will be sold in ten days' time. The store will not be open for business until the opening day of this great, sacrifice, closing out, quit business sale, which starts on Wednesday, April 14th, at 8:00 a. m.

THINK WHAT THIS GREAT FURNITURE, CARPET, AND RUG SACRIFICE SALE MEANS TO YOU, RIGHT AT THE TIME OF THE YEAR WHEN YOU ARE THINKING OF REPLENISHING YOUR HOME, AND HOUSEHOLD NEEDS.

At the prices we understand this stock of furniture, carpets, rugs and house furnishings will be sold at, the public will certainly take quick action, and we predict that the entire stock, occupying their three big floors will melt away rapidly, like a snowfall before a July sun.

The opening day of this big sale, Wednesday morning, April 14, at 8:00 a. m. WILL BE A COLOSSAL EVENT, and we advise early morning selections as much as possible in order to facilitate serving the immense crowds who will attend this quit business, closing out sale. Nothing will be reserved. The entire stock must be sold quickly. Freight will be paid on any shipment made to your town. Never again will such an opportunity be presented to you. A word to the intelligent should be sufficient. We advise you to be on hand early and benefit accordingly. Drop everything.

Wait! — Wait! — Wait! — Prepare accordingly and make your arrangements to be here on the opening day, Wednesday morning, APRIL 14, AT 8:00 A. M.

You Cannot Afford to Miss This Great Sale
If You Value Money Prepare Accordingly

They had noticed him sitting on the track and had noticed the car coming. They thought he saw it. He did not seem to pay any atten-

The other one yelled at him, and number one screamed, as only a woman can scream. The car kept coming. Both screamed again, and then they screamed at the same time. Still he sat there perfectly contented,

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

AN OLD, OLD STORY.

(Greensburg Review.)

The story sprung yesterday that a well known business man and a young lady had disappeared from the city about the same time caused a deal of gossip, but like many others of the class proved to be absolutely false. Both parties are said to have been here last evening.

OLD FASHIONED TIME.

(Greensburg Review.)

A Review man regards as a favor the courtesy extended to him by Joe Drake, the best known jeweler in town, for showing him an old watch that has a history, and some peculiarities of its own. It was "ticking time" though a century old.

This old family relic is an English watch with the antique verbe movement, something on the plan of the old fashioned "ground thumper" threshing machines. It has a double dial and what is known as a sky-light in the front side of the hunting case. The watch was bought by Mr. Drake from William Templeton, who inherited it from his great grandfather, the man who brought it from England.

EVERY DOG—HIS DAY, ETC.

(Shelbyville Democrat.)

Charlie Sefrit, editor of the Washington (Ind.) Herald, is one of the men who has not had long to wait for his revenge. During the county option campaign in Daviess county, Mr. Sefrit advocated a wet county. The leader of the drys was the Rev. E. E. Davidson, pastor of the First Christian church in Washington. On the Sunday preceeding the election he preached a sermon entitled "Hell and Mr. Sefrit." Now Davidson is accused of inveigling one of the ewe-members of his own flock into a bogus marriage at St. Louis. He has left Washington between two days, and Charlie Sefrit's paper is so hot that it scorches the press. And the hell to which "Brother" Davidson said Sefrit was bound is probably no warmer than was Washington as an abiding place for the reverend dry leader, when his true character was shown up.

AMUSEMENTS

"Bess and Her Goose" and "The Laplander" are the titles of the subjects that will be shown at the Vaudet tonight. Both are pictures of extraordinary merit. Miss Clara Gregg will sing "I'm Glad I'm Married."

At the Palace theater tonight the films to be shown will be "Jessie, the Stolen Child," and "A Clever Trick." In addition to the regular illustrated song, which will be "I'm Growing Fond of You," Mr. Jack Surat, the soloist who is fast winning many warm friends, will sing a popular hit song with spot light effects.

"The Honor of the Slums" and "How the Kids Got Even" are the titles of the subjects to be shown at the Grand theater tonight. The first picture is a story of Salvation Army life that is true to life and full of human pathos. The second is a comic picture. Miss Iva Brown will sing the illustrated song "Promise."

"Two Merry Tramps," the great musical success for the past eleven seasons will appear at the Grand theater Tuesday night. This play abounds in music of the high class order while the story is one of the most interesting and novel ever written for the backgrounds of a musical comedy. In song hits "Two Merry Tramps" specially prolific and from the list of them are no less than twelve, it is wholly a matter of individual opinion as to which is the "singiest and the most whistly." They include "The Tale of a Belgian Hare," "The Belles of Bartlesville," "When the Lights are Turned Down Low," "Good-bye Isabelle," "The Love Bug," and the "Lady." They range in theme from the serious to the comic, from sentimental to patriotic. Bessie Bennett has furnished good verses while Jerome Travers music is of the kind you carry from the play house and hum on your way home.

Geromono at Tishmingo, an Indian Operette, true to nature and interpreted in the Indian language. Common sense prices, 25, 35 and 50 cents.

For Woman's Eye.

Rosettes of plain colored satin ribbon are in vogue for wear with the dainty summer dresses.

Short sleeves and Dutch or low square necks are found on the handsomer gowns.

Fruit as a millinery trimming has never been so popular.

The vogue for buttons as a trimming is as strong as ever.

Pink will be one of the most popular tints this summer.

Scarfs of yedda braid trim some of the new hats.

Negligees of soft silk and lace are the thing.

Never, since the vogue for machine lace started, has the hand-made lace been more used.

Smart Tips For Men

The shapes of the coats are marked by their plainness. The lapels and collars are moderate, with a noticeable absence of stitching.

The hats for the season show very slight departures. The stiff hats as well as the soft hats, have lower crowns.

A negligee shirt with three box plaits on either side of the central plait is one of the season's novelties.

The close fold collar, showing just the knot of the scarf beneath, is very popular.

Green gloves in glace or dull finish are being featured in some of the shops.

The shade of the hose should harmonize with the suit and tie.

Elephant hide, taupe and skin of mice are the different shades in gray features for summer suits.

In shirts stripes predominate, having swivel designs at regular intervals along their length.

CHAPTER XIII.

JIM was slow tonight. The big show was nearly over, yet many of the props used in the early part of the bill were still unloaded.

He was tinkering absentmindedly with one of the wagons in the back lot, and the men were standing about idly waiting for orders when Barker came out of the main tent and called to him sharply:

"Hey, there, Jim! What's your excuse tonight?"

"Excuse for what?" Jim crossed slowly to Barker.

"The cook tent was started half an hour late, and the sideshow top ain't loaded yet."

"Your wagons is on the bum; that's what! No. 38 carries the cook tent, an' the blacksmith has been tinkering with it all day. Ask him what shape it's in."

"You're always stallin'," was Barker's sullen complaint. "It's the wagons or the blacksmiths or anything but the truth. I know what's the matter, all right."

"What do you mean by that?" asked Jim sharply.

"I mean that all your time's took up a-carryin' and a-fetchin' for that girl what calls you 'Muvver Jim.'"

"What have you got to say about her?" Jim eyed him with a threatening look.

"I got a-plenty," said Barker as he turned to snap his whip at the small boys who had stolen into the back lot to peek under the rear edge of the big top. "She's been about as much good as a sick cat since she come back. You saw her act last night."

"Yes," answered Jim doggedly.

"Wasn't it punk? She didn't show at all this afternoon; said she was sick. And me with all them people inside what knowed her waitin' to see her!"

"Give her a little time," Jim pleaded.

"She ain't rode for a year."

"Time!" shouted Barker. "How much does she want? She's been back a month, and instead of bracin' up she's a-gettin' worse. There's only one thing for me to do."

"What's that?" asked Jim uneasily.

"I'm goin' to call her, and call her hard."

"Star gazin', Poll?" he asked.

looked at him blankly. "If she would only complain," he said to himself; "if she would only get mad, anything, anything to wake her." But she did not complain. She went through her daily routine very humbly and quietly. She sometimes wondered how Jim

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure. Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense. We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend could talk so much about her work, but before she could answer the question her mind drifted back to other days, to a garden and flowers, and Jim stole away unmissed and left her with folded hand and wide, staring eyes, gazing into the distance.

The memory of these times made Jim helpless tonight. He had gone on hoping from day to day that Barker might not notice the "let down" in her work, and now the blow had fallen. How could he tell her?

One of the acts came tumbling out of the main tent. There was a moment's confusion as clowns, acrobats and animals passed each other on their way to and from the ring; then the lot cleared again, and Polly came slowly from the dressing tent. She looked very different from the little girl whom Jim had led away from the parson's garden in a simple white frock one month before. Her thin, pensive face contrasted oddly with her glittering attire. Her hair was knotted high on her head and intertwined with flowers and jewels. Her slender neck seemed scarcely able to support its burden. Her short, full skirt and low cut bodice were ablaze with white and colored stones.

"What's on, Jim?" she asked.

"The 'leap o' death.' You got plenty of time."

Polly's mind went back to the girl who answered that call a year ago. Her spirit seemed very near tonight. The band stopped playing. Barker made his grandiloquent announcement about the wonderful act about to be seen, and her eyes wandered to the distant church steeple. The moonlight seemed to shun it tonight. It looked cold and grim and dark. She wondered whether the solemn bell that once called its flock to worship had become as mute as her own dead heart. She did not hear the whir of the great machine inside the tent as it plunged through space with its girl occupant. These things were a part of the daily routine, part of the strange, vague dream through which she must stumble for the rest of her life.

Jim watched her in silence. Her face was turned from him. She had forgotten his presence.

"Star gazin', Poll?" he asked at length, dreading to disturb her reverie.

"I guess I was, Jim." She turned to him with a little, forced smile. He longed to save her from Barker's threatened rebuke.

"How you feelin' tonight?"

"I'm all right," she answered cheerfully.

"Anything you want?"

"Want?" She turned upon him with startled eyes. There was so much that she wanted that the mere mention of the word had opened a well of pain in her heart.

"I mean can I do anything for you?"

"Oh, of course not." She remembered how little any one could do.

"What is it, Poll?" he begged, but she only turned away and shook her head with a sigh. He followed her with anxious eyes. "What made you cut out the show today? Was it because you didn't want to ride afore folks what knowed you—ride afore him mebbe?"

"Him?" Her face was white. Jim feared she might swoon. "You don't mean that he was—"

"Oh, no," he answered quickly, "of course not. Parsons don't come to places like this one. I was only figurin' that you didn't want other folks to see an' to tell him how you was ridin'."

She did not answer.

"Was that it, Poll?" he urged.

"I don't know." She stared into space.

"Was it?"

"I guess it was," she said after a long time.

"I knowed it!" he cried. "I was a fool to 'a' brung you back! You don't belong with us no more."

"Oh, don't, Jim! Don't! Don't make me feel I'm in the way here too!"

"Here too?" He looked at her in astonishment. "You wasn't in his way, was you, Poll?"

"Yes, Jim." She saw his look of unbelief and continued hurriedly: "Oh, I tried not to be! I tried so hard. He used to read me verses out of a Bible about my way being his way and my people his people, but it isn't so, Jim. Your way is the way you are born, and your people are the people you are born with, and you can't change it. Jim, no matter how hard you try."

"You was changin' it," he answered savagely. "You was gettin' jes' like them people. It was me what took you away an' spoiled it all. You oughtn't to 'a' come. What made you after you said you wouldn't?"

She did not answer. Strange things were going through the mind of the slow witted Jim. He braced himself for a difficult question.

"Will you answer me somethin' straight?" he asked.

"Why, of course," she said as she met his gaze.

"Do you love the parson, Poll?"

She started.

"Is that it?"

Her lids fluttered and closed; she caught her breath quickly, her lips apart, then looked far into the distance.

"Yes, Jim, I'm afraid that's it." The little figure drooped, and she stood before him with lowered eyes, unarmed. Jim looked at her helplessly, then shook his big, stupid head.

"Ain't that h—?"

It seemed such a short time to Jim since he had picked her up, a cooling

CAUSES DEBILITY

Here are Facts Backed up by a Strong guarantee.

Debility is caused by catarrh. In our opinion, a person free from Catarrh was never troubled with Debility. Debility can never be cured by medicine not designed to cure Catarrh. We positively guarantee to cure Catarrh, and thus cure Debility. In every case where we fail to effect a cure, we will not charge a cent for the medicine employed during the trial. Now surely no one should hesitate to believe us or to put our claim to a partial test under such conditions. We take all the risk; no one else can lose anything by the transaction.

We make these statements and this offer because we know and have time and again proved that Rexall Muc-Tone will cure Catarrh. It is designed for that one particular purpose. It is not a cure-all prescribed to cure every disease that flesh is heir to. It is specific. Rexall Muc-Tone is absorbed in the stomach and carried by the blood until it penetrates every part of the body, acting as an antiseptic, disinfecting, cleansing, soothing and agent. It rids the system of all germ and poisonous matter, purifies and enriches the blood, rebuilds injured tissues, cleanses and invigorates the mucous cells, neutralizes the acids of the body, stops mucus discharge, tones up the entire system, promotes nutrition, increases body weight, and brings about a feeling of healthfulness that is lasting.

We have Rexall Muc-Tone in two sizes. Prices 50c. and $1.00. We urge you to try a bottle on our guarantee. Lytle's Drug Store, Third and Main street.

babe, at her dead mother's side. He watched the tender, averted face. Things had turned out so differently from what he had planned.

"An' he don't care about you—like that?" he asked after a pause.

"No, not in that way." She was anxious to defend the pastor from even the thought of such a thing. "He was good and kind always, but he didn't care that way. He's not like that."

"I guess I'll have a talk with him," said Jim, and he turned to go.

"Talk!" she cried.

He stopped and looked at her in astonishment. It was the first time that he had ever heard that sharp note in her voice. Her tiny figure was stiffened with decision. Her eyes were blazing.

"If you ever dare to speak to him—about me, you'll never see me again."

Jim was perplexed.

"I mean it, Jim. I've made my choice, and I've come back to you. If you ever try to fix up things between him and me, I'll run away—really and truly away—and you'll never, never get me back."

He shuffled awkwardly to her side and reached apologetically for the little clinched fist. He held it in his big rough hand, toying nervously with the fingers.

"I wouldn't do nothin' that you wasn't a-wantin', Poll. I was just a-tryin' to help you, only I—I never seem to know how."

She turned to him with tear dimmed eyes and rested her hands on his great, broad shoulders, and he saw the place where he dwelt in her heart.

PAJAMA TEA PARTY.

Oakland (Cal.) Beauties Glad to Discard Skirts For Sake of Comfort.

"The pajama tea" is the latest sensation of Oakland, Cal. Eleven young women, members of the Sotowa club, in silken and satin pajamas, were entertained in this most original way at the home of Miss Effie Thatcher the other afternoon. The eleven young women are pretty and popular. News of the affair has been spread broadcast, and there is a buzzing among the social elect. Some condemn the pajama tea, and others seize it as a child would a new plaything.

It all happened when Miss Thatcher invited the ten girls to her home to commemorate the fifth anniversary of their club. Over the telephone Miss Thatcher asked that each one come attired in pajamas.

"Oh, that's jolly!" was the general assent. "Won't we have a dandy time? I always did hate skirts."

So in pajamas they came. There were tea and cards and dancing and music.

"I simply decided to follow out the Japanese idea of entertaining," explained the hostess. "When I told my plan to the girls they were delighted with it. Pajamas are much more comfortable than party gowns."

The Want Advertisements Are "Humanizing"

When more people come to use and answer Want and For Sale
Advertisements, more people will know each other—

MORE PEOPLE WITH MUTUAL INTEREST WILL MEET—

more people will find channels and opportunities for reciprocal service. Truly, the Daily Republican Want Ads are "humanizing" people—shaming away the scorn of small things, the scorn of "bargaining," of exchanging useful but not used things for useful and usable ones.
